

Speaking on behalf of his elected Counselor Guy Laloche of Wemotaci declared the following: "Hydroelectric infrastructures are still being operated by Hydro-Québec on our ancestral territories against the rights recognized by the Constitution Act of 1982 and jurisprudence of the Supreme Court of Canada. Yet the Innu, Atikamekw and Anishnabeg Nations were never conquered. We have never surrendered our rights or accepted their extinction. But we are still deprived of these rights by Quebec and its crown corporation, Hydro-Québec
