

Made in United States of America

Seasonal Changes in Food Preferences of American Robins in Captivity

NATHANIEL T. WHEELWRIGHT<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Present address: Department of Biology, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine 04011 USA.

availability (e.g. Jordano 1986). As birds change habitats or as habitats change over time, and certain foods consumption by birds could be...

Fig. 1. Consumption rates of Viburnum dentatum

[Redacted text block]

1970), there were no apparent nutritional changes

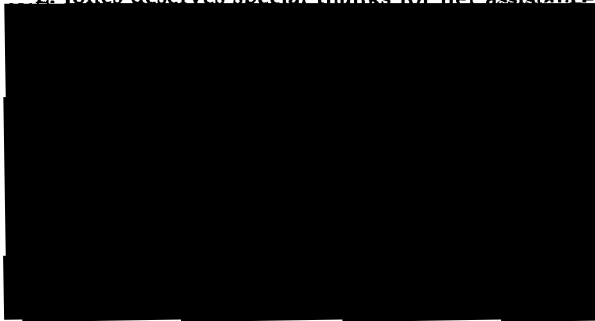

[Large redacted text block]

low diet. Fruits were chosen 1

[Large redacted text block]

E. Jones deserves special thanks for her assistance

LITERATURE CITED

porate bird/fruit interactions and bird behavior

animals: contrasts with pollen dispersal prob-
-biology and constraints on evolution of is
a. No. 119: 403-413. .... tion: An

