

2024 On-Campus Housing Lottery Guide

Lottery & Eligibility

First Round Eligible	Students Eligible for Round based on Spring 2024 Class Standing (found in Polaris)	Individual Points
Round 1	Senior, First Semester Junior, Second Semester Junior, First Semester (enrolled spring 2024)	3
Round 2	Junior, First Semester (on leave spring 2024) Sophomore, Second Semester Sophomore, First Semester (enrolled spring 2024) Sophomore, First Semester (on leave spring 2024)	2
Round 3	First Year, Second Semester First Year, First Semester (Class of 2027)

Each round will have all room configurations available. When it is your group leader's turn to select, they will only see available rooms that match your group size. A group of 5 will only see available 5-person rooms in Stowe Hall and Howard Hall. A group of 6 will only see available 6-person apartments in Harpswell and Park Row. And so on.

If your group doesn't like their options, they can reconfigure at any point between when your timeslot begins, and the lottery closes to see different sized available rooms. A group of 8 can split into two groups of 4 and select quads near each other, two groups of 1 can join to select a double together, etc. Your group leader will select a building, a room/suite/apartment within that building and then assign each member of the group to a bed. If they change their mind, they can "go back" and look at a different building until they are ready to commit to a room.

Once that selection is confirmed, your roommate group has housing next fall! You're all done. No "give backs" once the room is confirmed.

Keep in mind that there are roommate groups behind you whose timeslots may be reached while you are still making your housing decision. The sooner your group leader finalizes their choice, the more options there will be to choose from. The selection will be held in the "cart" for ten minutes. If not finalized after ten minutes, the room will be released for others to select and your group will need to select a new room.

Things to Consider

Who do you want to live with?

Do they want to live with you?

Have you asked them yet?

Are they neat and you are messy? Are you sure that will work?

What about the group? Will they stay up all night partying but you need to go to bed early due to practice?

Are you sure living with that group will work?

Remember, great friends do not always make great roommates.

What have you learned about yourself and your housing needs in the past year(s)?

Talking honestly now will help you avoid stress and conflicts later. Be sure to discuss lifestyles, habits, and expectations plainly before agreeing to room with someone. Don't assume anything; ask them!

Roommate Matching

Many students find themselves without a roommate when their friends decide to live with others, move off-campus, or study away. If you are in this situation, 1) attend the "Find a Roommate" event on Tuesday, April 2 5:00-6:00pm, 2) talk to your Proctor as they may know others with the same dilemma, or 3) search the "mandatory profiles" in the online lottery for someone with similar habits who is also looking for a roommate (available after April 2). If you need more help, contact the Office of Residential Life.
